

(上接C53版)

Main table containing financial data, company names, and various codes. The table is organized in multiple columns and rows, listing various entities and their associated financial metrics.