

Table with multiple columns containing financial data, company names, and codes. The table is organized into several vertical sections, each starting with a header like '(上接C17版)'. Each row contains numerical data, company names, and other identifiers.