

(上接C7版)

Table with multiple columns containing company names, codes, and financial data. The table is organized into several vertical sections, each starting with a company name and a list of its products or services.