

(上接C26版)

Table with multiple columns containing financial data, including fund names, codes, dates, and status. The table is organized into several vertical sections, each containing a list of entries with their respective details.