

Table with multiple columns containing financial data, company names, and codes. The table is organized into sections, with the first section labeled '(上接C17版)'. Each row contains a code, company name, and various financial metrics.